Aerospace logistics is one industry segment that has its unique challenges and issues. CILTS is launching our Aerospace Logistics Group and we are looking at specific programmes to improve logistics and operating efficiency across the entire the aerospace supply chain. At the same time, the programmes will support the continuing professional development of those involved with aircraft manufacturers, MROs (Maintenance, Repair & Overhaul) and OEMs (Original Equipment Manufacturers).

Through the Aerospace Logistics group, we also hope to create a platform for dialogue between the aerospace sector and the government. There will also be various networking opportunities for like-minded professionals to share insights, learn from peers and/or industry leaders, or simply to make new friends and renew ties with the old.
